

All of the talks (with one exception described below) on both days will be given in English. Interpretations will be in Hebrew and Arabic.

The one exception is for Dr. Njoya's presentation, which will be delivered in French, on the morning of July 12. For Dr. Njoya's talk, there will be interpretations in English, Arabic, and Hebrew.

If you want a headset (free of charge to you), then please have an ID (personal identification) ready to give to the people who will be handing out the headsets. When you return the headset at the end of the day, you will receive your ID back. This same procedure will be repeated on Thursday.

Please be sure to bring your ID (personal identification) with you to the conference if you want to use a headset for language interpretation.

We look forward to seeing you at this important conference.
